ceed the judgment.

If an individual could file suit on behalf of thousands, proponents add, the judgment would be large enough to make merchants chary of attempting to deceive the public.

The Nixon counter proposal sharply limits the field for class action suits by only allowing a suit once the Justice Department sues, and then only if that suit is successful. Comparable government actions have taken 20 years.

Mrs. Virginia Knauer, the President's consumer assistant, originally testified in favor of the class action but now lobbies against it because of White House pressure, charged Bess Myerson Grant, New York City's consumer commissioner.

Mrs. Grant urged Congress "to stand up to the pressures being mounted by Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, the American Retail Federation, and others."

"We will not be fooled by a fake reform, like the administration's counter measure, a so-called 'consumer protection bill,' so riddled with loopholes, exceptions, qualifications and elaborate triggering mechanisms that it is itself a consumer fraud," Mrs. Grant said.

"Existing laws make fraud illegal," she said, "but they do not make fraud unprofitable. In the consumer field today fraud pays off too often."

Elements of the business lobby say legitimate firms would be damaged by the bill. Advocates say only bad practices would stand up as profitable court targets.

The subcommittee consists of five Democrats and four Republicans. Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., predicted the GOP members will vote as a unit, with an undecided Democrat left with the swing vote.

If the bill clears the subcommittee, Eckhardt said, it has brighter prospects in the full committee and on the floor of the House.

A similar measure sponsored by Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., has been approved by his own Senate Commerce Committee.

The Magnuson bill is a federal instead of state approach and would, according to Eckhardt, require lengthy building of federal court precedent before being effective. The House bill, Eckhardt said, draws on substantive state law and could be effective immediately.

Theodore Roosevelt, at 42, was the youngest U.S. president.

Ralph Routon, graduating senior at Hope High School, has been presented the coveted National Big Inch Award by Quill and Scroll, the international honorary society for high school journalists.

This honor, with only about 50 recipients since its inception in 1947, is recognized as a distinctive mark of recognition for high achievement. Applicants must submit evidence of having published at least 10,000 column inches of material during their high school career.

In a letter confirming Ralph Routon's application for the award, Quill and Scroll National Secretary Lester G. Benz wrote that "this is a tremendous honor for any student and we congratulate Ralph on his achievement."

Ralph qualified for the Big Inch Award by compiling credit of 13,910 column inches in the last four years. While writing sports for the Hope Star, he totaled 10,530 inches of that amount.

Also, he wrote 280 inches of space in the Hi-Lights, HHS school paper, and claimed the equivalent of at least 2,500 column inches for scripts covering newscasts, sports interviews, and reports for radio station KXAR.

Besides his work at the Hope Star and KXAR, Ralph also has served as a correspondent for the Arkansas Gazette, Shreveport (La.) Times, Texarkana Gazette, and the wire services.

At HHS Ralph was editor-in-chief of the Hi-Lights, which was given a superior award for general excellence this year by the Arkansas High School Press Association.

In addition, he received superior honors for writing in sports news stories and columns, was third place for editor-of-the-year, and was given the Jess B. Covington Journalism Scholarship. His high school journalism adviser was Mrs. Mary Nell Turner.

Also at Hope High, Ralph was a member of Quill and Scroll, Key Club, Future Teachers, Mu Alpha Theta, Beta Club, and the National Honor Society. He was football and basketball statistician for four years, a four-year letterman and captain of the golf team, and a delegate to the Arkansas Boys State.

An honor graduate, he finished HHS this year 5th in a class of 182, with a grade point of 3.8 out of a possible 4.0.

This fall Ralph, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Routon of Hope, plans to enter the University of Arkansas as a journalism major, and he will be employed as a sportscaster by radio station KSPR in Springfield.

Bridge Bids Will Be Taken Next Month

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Highway Commission hopes to take bids next month on construction of a new Main Street Bridge and renovation of the Broadway Bridge across the Arkansas River at Little Rock.

The Army Engineers will bear the cost of the project, estimated at $8 million.

Highway Director Ward Goodman said contractors had been given notice that the projects may be among those the commission advertises for bids in June.

The projects includes the dismantling of the Main Street Bridge. Officials said the Broadway Bridge will be closed for about 10 months while undergoing remodeling. Construction of the new four-lane Main Street Bridge will take about two years.

Goodman also said the commission planned to let a contract before summer on Interstate 430 construction west of Little Rock. Construction of the interstate bridge across the Arkansas is under way.

The commission also adopted Wednesday a study of a recommended four-lane U.S. 270 highway between Hot Springs and Malvern. Future development in the area will be severely curtailed if long-range needs that would be provided by the new highway are not met, the study said.

One of the estimates of the cost was $12 million, which Goodman said was the amount the department receives for all primary roads during a year.

Conservative Colombo Head Beaten

By MYRON BELKIND
Associated Press Writer
COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Conservative Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake resigned today in the wake of a landslide election victory for Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike's leftist coalition.

Ceylon prepared for a sharp turn to the left in domestic and foreign policies as Mrs. Bandaranaike, in 1960 the world's first woman prime minister, awaited Governor General William Gopallawa's call to form a new cabinet.

Returns for 138 of the 151 elected seats in the House of Representatives gave Mrs. Bandaranaike's leftist coalition the largest parliamentary majority in Ceylon's 21 years of independence and her Freedom party a majority on its own without its two Communist allies.

The coalition had 108 seats, including 85 for the Freedom party, 18 for the Trotskyite Communists and 5 for the pro-Moscow Communists. In addition, Mrs. Bandaranaike as prime minister will appoint six other members to parliament.

The combined opposition had only 30 seats: 14 for Senanayake's United National party, 15 for two parties representing the Tamil minority and one independent.

Senanayake won a narrow victory in his district, but at least 10 of his 17 cabinet ministers were defeated.

Mrs. Bandaranaike, a 53-year-old widow of another prime minister, won her own seat by a huge majority of 21,723 votes. Senanayake's winning margin in his district was 1,067.

The leftist coalition in its campaign promised to nationalize foreign banks, take over the export-import trade, set up peoples' committees to watch the activities of government officials and businessmen and restrict newspapers that backed Senanayake.

It also pledged to extend full diplomatic recognition to North Vietnam, North Korea and the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government as well as suspend relations with Israel until it withdraws from Arab territory taken in the 1967 war.

Senanayake, a 58-year-old bachelor, based his campaign on his efforts to build amity between the Buddhist Sinhala majority and the largely Hindu Tamil minority. He appeared to have been hurt by a cut in the rice ration in 1968 from four to two pounds a week.

Mrs. Bandaranaike headed the government from 1960 to 1965 after the assassination of her husband, Solomon Bandaranaike, by a Buddhist monk in 1959.

Judges Can Talk Against Constitution

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Judges in the state apparently are free to campaign for or against Arkansas' proposed new constitution, which will be voted on in November.

The attorney general's office said Wednesday that Act 465 of 1969 restricts judges from participating in campaigns of other candidates but does not extend to the proposed constitution.

Municipal Judge Reed Wilkerson of Jacksonville asked for the opinion.

In another opinion, the attorney general's office said the state Education Board must license the Arkansas Real Estate Association's Institute, under which agents are trained as real estate brokers or agents.

State Education Commissioner Arch Ford asked for the opinion.

U.S. Plans to Pull Troops Out of Korea

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is starting to plan for removing some U.S. troops from South Korea, sources say.

The withdrawal, which may start late next year, will be gradual, probably involving less than a division at the start, it was indicated.

A hint of this was dropped Wednesday by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird in a speech.

"Although I am unable to discuss today specific details of additional troop reductions in the Pacific or Asian area," Laird said, "we are already working on plans for such actions as we reduce our role of world policeman in favor of the Nixon doctrine . . ."

Defense sources said the planning involves South Korea, where the United States has about 64,000 Army and Air Force troops stationed.

A severe budget squeeze is the driving force behind current planning for bringing some American troops out of Korea, although the action is in line with the Nixon doctrine stressing self-reliance by Asian nations in their ground defenses.

The United States has pledged to maintain its present troop commitment in South Korea and in the NATO area of Western Europe until mid-1971, but not beyond that time.

Indications are that reduction of the 300,000 man U.S. force in Europe will be relatively small because as Secretary of State William P. Rogers has said, NATO is "the most important security alliance that we have."

The United States has been supporting and helping develop the South Korean army for 20 years and U.S. military experts consider it a very good fighting force, able to hold its own against a possible North Korean thrust.

More than two Korean divisions are in Vietnam and U.S. officials expect some form of compensation, perhaps sizable amounts of modern arms and equipment, in exchange for the pullout of some U.S. troops from Korea.

In line with the Nixon doctrine, which permits U.S. air and naval support for Asian ground forces, the United States is likely to retain most of the Air Force units now deployed in South Korea.

PRESIDENT

encouraged by the day's record-breaking 32.04-point increase in the Dow-Jones Industrial stock index when New York Stock Exchange Chairman Bernard Lasker pointed out it was the largest rally in exchange history, the source said.

The dinner meeting grew out of Lasker's earlier visit with Nixon.

As far as the economy in general was concerned, guests reported Nixon repeated the administration's prediction that business will turn upward in the July-September quarter.

Burns said the Fed would not be "rigidly bound by theoretical numerical formulas" for the money supply. Even though the credit-regulating agency has begun to loosen up on its restraints it is not going to start a new policy that could encourage new inflation, he reportedly said.

Nixon spoke in conciliatory terms about the unflattering view many young people hold about his administration and—he pointed out—about American business.

Though he obviously doesn't agree with dissenting young people, one source said, he didn't harangue about them, instead speaking about the need to "open new avenues of communication" in an effort to get a better understanding of the nation's real problems.

The 32.04-point increase in the Dow-Jones index Wednesday was the largest single-day jump in the market's history and brought the index to 663.20, giving hope the nearly vertical decline that began in April may be turning around.

Despite the stock market news and some recent economic statistics interpreted by the administration as indicating the troublesome business slowdown is leveling off, the President is beset from all sides by criticism and suggestions that he should take sterner action to control inflation.

Democrats on the House Banking Committee said Wednesday they had agreed to draft legislation to give him authority to freeze wages, prices and rents at their May 25 levels.

Four hearts down one is a perfectly normal result. North certainly has a raise to two hearts and South is fully justified in jumping to game, but with normal defense South winds up losing three spades and a club.

In a recent, rather tough, duplicate, two South players went down two tricks and one made his contract.

It is rather easy to see how down-two came about. West opened the deuce of clubs. East took his ace and returned the suit. South was in with the king and drew trumps with two leads. Then South, an expert, decided that the best play for his contract would be to lead a diamond toward dummy and finesse the jack.

Assuming that finesse to work, he would be able to shed one of dummy's spades on the king of diamonds and get out with the loss of only two spades. So he took the finesse. East won the trick and shifted to either the jack or ace of spades. In either case, the defense got three quick spade tricks.

How did one declarer make his contract? Was he a great expert? No, he was lucky.

It seems that West was one of those fancy players who are always trying to work out some sensational play. This West led the eight of spades. South played low from dummy and now East went into conference with himself. That eight-spot lead looked like the top of a doubleton. Maybe West held ace and one trump for that lead. East played the 10 of spades.

South looked startled for a moment. Then he gathered in the trick with his queen and proceeded to make his contract for a real top score.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Battel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!
This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

WHICH ONE TO BELIEVE?

Dear Helen: My mother won't let me hang around with this girl because she broke up with my brother, and Mom says she's no good. She listens to my brother who says all kinds of mean things about her. Like she's a pick-up and wouldn't stop at anything.

I know better. She quit my brother because he expects any girl he dates to put out. She slapped his face and really told him off, so naturally he's out to ruin her reputation.

Mom thinks my brother is the original Mr. Nice Guy. I'm no fink and besides, she wouldn't believe me. But I don't want my girl friend's name pulled down. What can I do? —UNFAIRLY TREATED

Dear Unfair: If only one boy downgrades a girl—and the others know she isn't easy—then the truth soon makes the rounds. A sisterly chat might show "Mr. Nice Guy" it is in his best interests to cool the gossip before his mother hears it like it was—via the grapevine, of course.—H.

Dear Helen: The trouble with this fellow is that when a girl says "No!" he still "gropes" for an answer. Would you please tell boys that the best way not to win girls is by thinking they're irresistible? When I make it clear I'm the "No parking" type, and a guy still thinks I'll weaken if he breathes heavy down my neck—that's it, brother!

I wish boys would stop reading those girly magazines long enough to know girls don't want to be pawed on the first date. —Tell 'em, Helen. —AGAINST WRESTLING MATCHES

Dear Against: You already told 'em better than I could. Thanks! Another girl wrote: "These 'handy-men' have the paws that depresses!" (So what do you want, good grammar or good puns?)—H.

Dear Helen: My best friend's family moved into a duplex in a mixed neighborhood. It turns out that the renters on the other side are black. The man is a school teacher, and they have very nice kids. Only the color is "wrong." But that's enough to make my parents so uptight the won't let me visit my friend.

I never realized my folks were prejudiced before. They cover by saying it's a "dangerous" area, but really the people there are almost all professionals—doctors, a lawyer, accountants, etc., some white, some black, some yellow. How can you get through to your parents that times have changed, and they're the ones who are losing out?—A MEMBER OF THE HUMAN RACE

Dear MHR: I wish I had a surefire answer to your question, but only time and much patience can undo inbred prejudices.

Perhaps if your parents visited this neighborhood several times they might see for themselves what is very apparent to you, and me, and those who live there: Equality isn't based on color.

Keep trying!—H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Shining Mountains" Wednesday evening was one of NBC's excellent but too infrequent "Project 20" documentary programs.

This one combined in one get-rich-quick mining days in the Rocky Mountains with a photographic paean celebrating their natural beauty and grandeur.

The Rockies, explained narrator Milburn Stone, are 80 million years old, extend from Alaska to Mexico, and are really 35 different ranges side by side. That is a lot of territory, and the producer handled it by concentrating on those days in the late 19th century when men swarmed into the mountains, first in 1859 for gold and later for silver and then other metals.

This portion was the usual stuff of TV documentaries—film showing the ghost towns and ghost mines as they are today and then the old photographs and posters made during the boom times.

As usual with "Project 20" programs, the research showed. The narrator explained that in the early days gold dust was the currency of each community and was valued at 25 cents a pinch—with the seller doing the pinching. Some greedy ones let their fingernails grow long and pressed a dried pea into the end of a finger to make a dent—all for a bigger pinch.

The gold fever subsided to be replaced in 1878 with a silver rush and sections of the shining mountains—the Rockies' Indian name—went through the same boom town-to-ghost-town cycle again.

The big picture was replaced occasionally by the small one, when it involved an interesting story. The program told of Henry Taber, who took $10 million out of one mine and sported a platinum toothpick and two watches in his vest pockets. He lavished everything on his wife, Baby Doe, but died penniless. Baby Doe lived out her widowhood in a shack near one of his flooded mines and ultimately froze to death.

The great mountains are now being invaded again, this time by a rush of winter sports enthusiasts. But they make only trails on snow for their skis and snowmobiles without destroying the beauty or gouging out the substance.

Films of the mountains in winter were highlights of the hour. Slow motion film of skiers on the trails and slopes were like a ballet. There was one awesome but beautiful sequence showing an avalanche.

It was an educational hour which would have been interesting to younger viewers if it had been broadcast at an earlier hour.

Henry Clay, American statesman, is sometimes called the "Apostle of Liberty."

Mosquito Control Plan Is Set Up

LOHOK, Ark. (AP)—A research project on mosquito control in Arkansas' rice lands and on the effect of insecticides on aquatic life will begin Monday.

The project is a joint effort of the University of Arkansas and the city of Lohok and will be under supervision of Dr. J. L. Lancaster and Dr. M. V. Meisch of Fayetteville, U of A entomologists.

The $17,000 project will be financed with federal, state and local funds, including $5,000 from the city and $2,000 from the Lohok Area Chamber of Commerce.

The research will be conducted in a 2 1/2-mile section that includes Lohok and 3,000 acres of rice land.

Previous research has indicated that up to 20 million mosquitoes can be produced on an acre of rice during June, July and August.

They Lobby But Don't Throw Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two university professors call them "the middle students," the ones who are lobbying in Washington and working on their campuses against the war.

"The middle students are in the saddle," Roger Hillsman, Columbia University professor of government, said.

"They're not going to throw a bomb. But still they're going to do something. They're not just going to sit by," Howard Wriggins, also a Columbia professor of government, said.

The two men were in Washington for a foreign policy symposium, but the talk at a Tuesday press conference inevitably turned to the thousands of students visiting congressional offices these days.

A group from Cornell University has taken a house near the Capitol. They're asking their parents to stay with them June 24 for a "Parents' Tea" and lobby effort at a Princeton Lobby.

The university professor emphasized that there's a wide range of action in the student movement.

Third professor, John S. Badeau, former U.S. ambassador to the United Arab Republic, said "the question of student self-consciousness is a global phenomenon" which takes different forms in different countries.

Badeau said the youth movement in the U.S. is not simply an antiwar protest, but is "a search for a role."

The middle students, Hillsman said, are deeply opposed to war but they want to work with the system.

Old Lawrence Welk Stand Burns Down

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The old Aragon Ballroom, for years the home of Lawrence Welk's "champagne music," collapsed in flames early today as a massive fire swept Lick Pier in coastal Venice.

More than 125 firemen battled the fire on the 2,000-foot pier.

No injuries were reported. Cause of the fire was not immediately known.

Welk, who started appearing at the ballroom during World War II, moved his television show to the Hollywood Paldium about 10 years ago.

Summer Joblessness Is Problem

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has summoned the President's Council on Youth opportunity to a rare meeting and signs that a summer unemployment problem of massive proportions is building in the nation's cities.

Officials said the council, composed of representatives of Cabinet departments and the Office of Economic Opportunity, has met in general session only once in the past eight months.

But an administration spokesman denied the meeting, set for Thursday, was an emergency session. He said it was called to bring the various domestic departments together for an estimate of unemployment commitments and to discuss summer recreational plans and needs.

Government figures show the unemployment rate among black teenagers has hit 45 per cent in Los Angeles and 40 per cent in Detroit. Nationwide, urban specialists are forecasting a 30 per cent unemployment rate among black youths this summer.

"The catalyst" for Thursday's council meeting, the spokesman said, "is that we are approaching the summer and want to see before the end of the fiscal year what's being spent and where and what the targets and objectives are of the several agencies involved."

The spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said it was coincidental that the council was meeting on the same day that Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., plans to introduce a bill that would add $100 million and 227,000 job slots to the Neighborhood Youth Corps' summer program.

The Nixon administration has announced a $146 million program that would provide 328,000 summer jobs. A Labor Department spokesman said this would be augmented later with special contingency funds for the nation's 50 largest cities.

The need for an expanded NYC program and continuation of the $35 million OEO summer recreation program have been championed for weeks by urban advocates, particularly the National League of Cities and the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

The joint organization, the lobbying and research arm for the nation's cities, citing Bureau of Labor Statistics figures, says one of every three ghetto dwellers between the ages of 16 and 21 will be unemployed this summer, barring government intervention or a sudden economic upswing. The League says there is a need for 555,000 NYC job slots.

Arkansas College at Batesville may be small in number (enrollment is only 350), but its ideas exemplify those of a major university. This year, the summer session will include a curriculum course in Ozark folklore, one of the few such courses of this type offered in the state.

11th Time Driver Has Entered Race

EDITORS: Lloyd Ruby, who goes into his 11th Indianapolis 500-mile auto race Saturday, describes the excitement he feels during the race in the fourth of a series of five articles written for The Associated Press. In the final article, he will discuss his future plans.

By LLOYD RUBY
Written for
The Associated Press
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Saturday will be the 11th time I've started the Indy 500. It's the greatest event in racing... the biggest challenge.

This is my twenty-second year as a driver, and I enjoy running the 500 more than all the other races put together. The crowd, and everything else surrounding the race, really gets you going. I guess football coaches call it getting fired-up. I'll guarantee you when Tony Hulman says "Gentlemen, start your engines," the old heart will be running flat-out already.

It's hard to describe the tremendous feeling I get during the race. It's better'n hooking a 10-pound bass on a lazy day. Next to racing, I think fishing is the greatest thrill in the world... when they're biting. You feel like there's more to run for at Indy. Aside from the money, the crowd affects everybody... makes you run harder. I don't think anybody would feel like running 500 miles at the speed you have to run here if there were only three or four thousand people watching.

Lotsa people have asked me what I think about during the race itself. Well, the race itself takes all of your attention and you don't have time to think about anything else. I try to keep my mind on the track and what kind of shape it's in. I think about how hard I've got to run to catch up to the leaders. If I'm running with them, I think about how to stay there. I don't like to abuse my equipment.

If you have to abuse yourself and your equipment, you're cutting down your odds of finishing the race, much less winning it. For about three hours, you're trying to out-think the other drivers, trying to out-run them. I hope about four of the guys who are starting up there ahead of me will race each other hard right from the start. I believe in odds, and the odds are that at least three of those four won't finish.

They'll be abusing their equipment and taking more chances than they have to. When you're racing somebody hard, you're naturally wearing your equipment more. You're putting more stress and strain on everything, the engine, the chassis, the tires, every part and piece.

I think the Mongoose I drive, built by my chief mechanic, Dave Laycock, is the strongest car I've seen or driven. How did we get the name Mongoose? Well, several years ago, everybody started naming their chassis after animals. Dave figured a Mongoose had to be the fastest thing in the world. It even whips up on rattlesnakes.

With Dave's ability, I have tremendous confidence in my car. The first two races we ran this year, I was involved in two pretty good accidents but I managed to finish both — with pretty good results. I was third at Phoenix and first at Trenton. I slammed into Art Pollard at Phoenix and ran up over a car at Trenton. Both times, I really banged it around. Most cars would have broken something, hitting as hard as I did, but these two bumps didn't even bend the car.

I don't have any worries in a race wondering if something is going to break... I know some drivers do... and that can be a big factor in a driver's mind. Let me tell you, a driver has

Johnson Hits 10th Homer of Season

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The home run is the ultimate achievement for a hitter—something Deron Johnson knows all about. Johnson has hit 133 of them in his career. Homers are old stuff for him. Gil Garrido has hit one. For him, it was a wonderful new experience.

Johnson cracked his 10th homer of the season Wednesday night—a three-run shot in the ninth inning that gave Woody Fryman all the runs in Philadelphia's 3-0 victory over Montreal. "I knew it was out of the park the moment it left my bat," said Johnson, who's learned to recognize the feeling of a homer. Garrido connected along with Orlando Cepeda in a six-run second inning that moved Atlanta to an 8-1 victory over Houston. It was the very first in the majors for the 160-pound slugger.

"I didn't know it was going out," said Garrido. "I don't hit them that often. When I got to the dugout, everybody was laughing. They told me they were going to faint."

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday, New York shut out St. Louis 3-0, San Francisco battered Los Angeles 11-3, Pittsburgh blanked Chicago 4-0 and Cincinnati clipped San Diego 6-4.

In the American League, Washington tripped Boston 7-5, Baltimore edged Cleveland 5-4, Kansas City nipped Chicago 4-3, New York trimmed Detroit 4-2 and Oakland topped California 4-2. Milwaukee's game at Minnesota was postponed by rain.

Johnson's homer was the second time in as many nights that the Expos were cut down on a three-run shot in the ninth by a Phillie. On Tuesday, Tony Taylor hit one to win a game.

Garrido has been on a hot streak at the plate ever since grabbing one of pitcher Milt Pappas' bats. He went 4-for-4 with it in one game and has moved his average up from a dismal .096 to a respectable .270.

But if it's an average on the move you're looking for, try Rico Carty, who had three more hits against the Astros and increased his average from .424 to .432.

Cepeda had four RBIs for the Braves with a double and homer. Manager Gil Hodges moved slumping Cleon Jones into the leadoff spot and the move paid off when Jones delivered a bases-loaded, two-run single that helped the Mets to their victory over St. Louis.

Gary Gentry fired a three-hitter and struck out nine to earn his fifth victory. "It was just like moving furniture," said Hodges of the Jones switch. "Cleon wasn't doing well batting third so I thought I'd try something different."

Juan Marichal turned in his best pitching job of the season, scattering eight hits as the Giants battered Los Angeles to get even a little for the 19-3 shellacking the Dodgers handed them the night before.

Willie Mays walloped his 12th homer of the year—No. 612 of his career. That left him 102 away from Babe Ruth and 611 ahead of Gil Garrido. Reserves Bob Taylor and Frank Johnson also hammered homers in a 13-hit Giant attack.

Bob Moose spun a four-hitter and Pittsburgh shut out Chicago. Roberto Clemente's two-run single in the fifth inning gave Moose some working room and the Pirate right-hander outdueling Cubs' ace Ferguson Jenkins. Moose is 4-4 while Jenkins lost his seventh game in 10 decisions.

Needs System in Baseball to Survive

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's claims that baseball cannot exist without the reserve system will be attacked in cross examination Thursday in the seventh day of Curt Flood's $3 million anti-trust suit against baseball.

Jay Topkis, one of Flood's lawyers, barely got started on cross examination of the commissioner Wednesday after Kuhn had testified that the game could not continue to operate on a league basis if the reserve system were removed.

Flood, formerly a star center fielder with the St. Louis Cardinals, balked at reporting to the Philadelphia Phillies after he was traded last winter and brought suit against the baseball establishment. One of his main targets is the reserve system, a complex set of rules that provide a club with the option to renew a player's contract each year.

Executives of other sports have testified to the way their reserve systems operate. Football, for instance, has a clause that permits a player to play one year after his contract has expired and then become a free agent.

Kuhn said the football system would be "very bad" for baseball because he would be concerned about the integrity of the game and the effects on equal competition.

"In our game," said Kuhn, "and in our game alone, I am not talking about football. If a player could play out his option there would be the built-in evils of tampering and behind the scenes negotiations that tend to shake the public confidence in the game."

Kuhn said it was impossible to compare baseball and football in economic operation because football has a ready-made player development system in the colleges and baseball has to support a minor league system.

He also said he thought it was easier to replace a guard or a blocking tackle than a Tom Seaver or a player on the Baltimore Orioles.

The commissioner had found problems in several alternatives to the reserve system given in previous testimony by Hall of Famer Hank Greenberg and Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association.

Miller had suggested the option be restricted to a definite number of years. Kuhn said this would open the door to a player dealing with another club while still with his first club and possible tampering. He claimed the richer teams would tend to sign the most players and the stars would gravitate to the richer teams.

As for Miller's suggestion that competitive leagues might be organized, Kuhn said, "that would destroy the game as it now exists."

Kuhn said he felt the decision of the players association to back the Flood case was a "serious mistake." He insisted the matter of considering any modifications of the reserve system should be a subject for bargaining between players and clubs.

He said Miller's proposals were all generalized and imprecise. The reserve system was put on the shelf in recent bargaining maneuvers by mutual agreement.

Kuhn pointed out that there were "very important concessions in other areas" in the owner-player bargaining. In his arguments that baseball could not survive without the reserve system, Kuhn went back to the 1871-1879 period when no reserve system existed.

"The climate was extremely evil," he said, "and it was cured by an effective reserve system and a strong central government."

The commissioner had spoken of those pre-reserve days when players jumped from one team to another during the season, and gambling, dishonesty and rowdiness were commonplace.

Major League home run lead with his 17th of the season, snapping an eighth inning tie and giving Cincinnati its victory over San Diego.

Hill Man to Beat in the Memphis Open

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Dave Hill may not be the favorite in fact it's difficult to name one—but the slim, outspoken guy certainly ranks as the man to beat in the $150,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Open Golf Tournament.

"I don't say I'm going to win—I may not," Hill said today before his first round on the 6,466-yard, par 70 Colonial Country Club Course.

"But I'll be up there. I'm striking the ball good. And if I'm playing like I did last week, they're in trouble."

Hill skipped tournament competition last week, suffering from some mild health problems, but still practiced almost every day at his home in Evergreen, Colo.

"They've got a little, short municipal course there," he said. "And one day I played it in 32-29. If I can keep on hitting like that, well, . . ."

The 33-year-old Hill, a veteran of 12 years on the pro tour, came into his own last year when he won three tournaments, finished second on the money list and topped the Vardon Trophy for the lowest stroke average.

"This course has been pretty good to me," he said. He has won two of the last three Memphis titles, including the last one.

"I don't know what it is," he said. "But I put these greens just super. If they'd let me carry these greens around with me on the tour, why everybody else would be playing for second place every week."

Hill, who hasn't won this year, however, has earned over $37,000.

He ranks as one of the pre-tourney favorites in a wide open scramble. Other top contenders include Frank Beard, Gene Littler, Tommy Aaron, Bob Lunn, Romero Blancas, Lee Trevino, Miller Barber, Don January and Lee Elder.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player, and Billy Casper are not competing.

A-State Will Play Pan-Am Independents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Texas Longhorns, No. 2 team in college baseball, resumed their bid today for the national title that has eluded them since 1950.

The Longhorns, with 33 wins and six losses, joined Arkansas State University and Pan American College of Edinburg in a playoff to select the District 6 representative to the College World Series at Omaha next month.

The first game, at 1 p.m., matched Arkansas State, winner of the Southland Conference, against Pan American, an independent. Texas plays the loser at 4 p.m. A team is eliminated when it loses twice.

Other games are set for Friday afternoon with a final game Saturday, if necessary.

Texas, champions of the Southwest Conference, has the home field advantage. The Pan American publicity man said, "Playing the Longhorns in Austin is like fighting lions in Rome."

Actually, five of Texas' six defeats were in Austin, including the only losses by All-American pitchers Burt Hooton and James Street.

The two righthanders compiled 8-1 records even though hampered by injuries. Hooton appears to have regained the form that made him one of the

Turns Down Request to Give Up Bar

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A southern sequel to last year's Joe Namath-Bachelor III storm was brewing today over the acquisition of a Metairie, La., night-spot by running back Ernie Wheelwright of the National Football League's New Orleans Saints.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle has confirmed a report in the current issue of Sport Illustrated Magazine that Wheelwright turned down a league request to give up the bar, "Central Park South," because the reputed owner of the property is an underworld figure.

Rozelle said Wednesday that Bernie Jackson of the NFL security staff met with Wheelwright several weeks ago and "expressed great concern" to the 30-year-old pro veteran over the venture.

"Our security people told him they thought it would be wise (to sell) on the basis of the information we had received," Rozelle said. Instead, Wheelwright opened the club 10 days ago under a temporary license. Rozelle said the league is continuing to investigate the matter.

Last summer Rozelle forced Namath, the New York Jets' gifted quarterback, to give up his interest in Manhattan's Bachelors III...under threat of suspension...because the bar allegedly was frequented by undesirable.

Wheelwright, however, has not been directed to sell Central Park South...yet.

"We want to get the rest of the information before we decide what position to take, and then convey that position to him," the commissioner said. "Before giving anybody ultimatums, we like to have strong reasons for doing so. We don't nation's best college pitchers last year at 12-0.

The Longhorns finished four in the College World Series in 1969, beating the eventual champion Arizona State on Hooton's three hitter, and Mississippi.

They lost few players off that squad, and the pitchers this year have a combined earned run average of 1.62 with six regulars batting over .300 to boost the team batting average to .301.

Street, like Hooton, Mike Beard and Larry Hardy each average at least one strikeout an inning.

Pan American's pitching staff has posted a fine 1.77 combined earned run average, led by Tony Barbosa, Tommy Sandovar and Lupe Salinas, who together have won 21 games against three losses.

The Broncos, an independent team from the Lower Rio Grande Valley, have a 31-10 record and won 11 of 16 from Southwest Conference teams and 6 of 7 against Big Ten teams.

Their chances were bolstered with the return of all-star third baseman Reggie Tiedrow, who will start after missing the entire season with a broken ankle.

Arkansas State had a 16-15 season record. The only hitter over .300 was second baseman Jim Wagner at .306. Rusty Bourg led the pitching with an 8-2 record and earned run average of 2.22.

Bourg and Barbosa, Pan American's ace with four shutouts, were teamed against Pat Pigeon of Danville, Calif., meets Judith Szorenyi of Hungary and like to intrude in private lives unless there are strong reasons."

"I don't know what they've got up," Wheelwright said in New Orleans. He insisted he is the sole owner of the club.

Pro Football Schedule Fixed for Nine Years

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League has compiled tentative regular season schedules for the next nine years, with only the sites of games from 1971 through 1978 still to be determined.

The schedules, subject to change only in the event of further expansion or realignment of the 26-team league, were drawn up, without aid of a computer, by the NFL office and passed on to the club owners during their meetings this week in New York.

This year's schedule, with sites and dates, was released earlier. Jim Kensil, chief aide to Commissioner Pete Rozelle, said it took only a few days to complete, and check out, the voluminous long-range schedule, which calls for each club to meet every other club on a home-and-home basis before the end of the 1978 season.

The schedules were released today to the individual member clubs.

"They could change if we have more expansion or realignment," Kensil said. "But neither is contemplated at this time."

Another Step for Ashe in Grand-Slam Try

PARIS (AP) — Arthur Ashe, one of the top ranking players in the United States, has taken another step along the road he hopes will bring him the tennis Grand Slam.

The star from Richmond, Va., already has won the Australian National crown. He needs to win the French, Wimbledon and U.S. crowns to complete the Grand Slam.

The U.S. Davis Cupper gained the third round of the French competition by crushing Billy Freer of South Africa 6-1, 6-0, 6-3 Wednesday.

Ashe, seeded No. 4 in this tourney, is not scheduled to play singles today. Neither is Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., seeded No. 8, who will meet Ashe in the semifinals if both continue winning.

Richey advanced by eliminating Derek Schroeder, another South African, 6-2, 6-2, 6-4. Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, was put out by Szabolet Baranyi of Hungary 6-3, 2-6, 6-10, 6-2, 6-1.

The other Americans who reached the second round, Charlie Pasarell of Puerto Rico, Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., and Tom Gorman of Seattle, also were beaten.

Pasarell fell before Lew Hoad of Australia 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4. McManus lost to third-seeded Manuel Santana of Spain 6-1, 6-2, 7-5. Marty Mulligan of Italy tripped Gorman 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

In the women's division, Cecilia Martinez of San Francisco was eliminated by Mrs. Judy Dalton of Australia 6-3, 6-1.

The other U.S. women are scheduled to play today.

Julie Heldman of New York meets Mrs. Fay Moore of Australia, Rosie Casals of San Francisco is pitted against Pat Walkden of South Africa, Kristy Pigeon of Danville, Calif., meets Judith Szorenyi of Hungary and

Reliefers Gallop to the Rescue

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Relief in the American League is as close as the nearest bullpen.

Mudcat Grant, Pete Richert, Jack Aker, Darold Knowles and Mike Drabowsky all came galloping to the rescue Wednesday night and provided the clutch pitching their teams needed.

Grant worked the final 2-3 innings in Oakland's 4-3 triumph over California; Richert put down a Cleveland threat in the ninth, preserving Baltimore's 5-4 victory; Aker checked Detroit on one hit over the last four innings as the New York Yankees beat the Tigers 4-2; Knowles picked up his first win of the year with four scoreless frames in Washington's 7-5 verdict over Boston and Drabowsky got the last four outs as Kansas City shaded the Chicago White Sox 4-3.

Milwaukee's scheduled game at Minnesota was rained out.

In the National League, Cincinnati stopped San Diego 6-4. Pittsburgh blanked the Chicago Cubs 4-0, the New York Mets shut out St. Louis 3-0, Atlanta thumped Houston 8-1, San Francisco mauled Los Angeles 11-3 and Philadelphia zipped Montreal 3-0.

Sixth-inning homers by Joe Rudi and Sal Bando gave Oakland the lead over California and Grant nailed down the victory. Coming on in the seventh, he fed an inning-ending double play ball to Bob Johnson, struck out Joe Azcue and Roger Repoz with two runners aboard in the eighth and set the Angels down in order in the ninth.

Frank Fernandez hit a solo homer for the A's in the second. Although he's become the bellwether of the A's bullpen, Grant yearns to be a starter again.

"Everyone prefers starting," he says. "There's just something about starting and relieving. Starters are still considered to be better pitchers, even when that isn't true in all cases. It's something that's left over from the past. We're still living in the past in some respects."

Richert, who has been scored on in only one of 13 relief appearances, showed up in the ninth after Ted Uhlaender and Eddie Leon opened for Cleveland with singles. He got Duke Sims to bounce into a double play, yielded a run-scoring single to Tony Horton, but retired Chuck Hinton on a fly ball for the final out.

It was the first time Richert failed to strike out anyone, but he has fanned 22 in 15 2-3 innings.

The Indians had combined four singles, a wild pitch and an infield out for three runs in the top of the seventh and led 3-2. But the Orioles bounced right back, with Don Buford stroking a two-run baseloaded single and the eventual winning run crossing on Mark Belanger's infield roller. Starter Jim Palmer homered earlier for Baltimore.

Aker appeared on the Yankee scene earlier than usual — in the sixth inning. The Tigers, trailing 4-1, had runners on first Horton's sacrifice fly got one run home but Aker slammed the door after that.

The Yanks jumped on Joe Niekro for three runs in the first inning on a walk, Roy White's single, an RBI single by Danny Cater and a two-run single by Curt Blefary.

Knowles picked up his win when the Senators rallied for three runs in the seventh to hand the Red Sox their 15th setback in 20 games.

Paragraph One
Thirst for Power
—Wages & Prices

Despite this era of confusion I still know it's Thursday: My garbage can moved out to the S. Main St. curb this morning to meet the city sanitation truck.

One of the oldest adages of the human race is that you can't help a fat man with medicine—you're only hope is to keep him away from the kitchen.

And so it is with government. If profligate rule and promiscuous paper money have nearly bankrupted a nation, it's not going to be made well again by patent-medicine laws—the only cure is to cut down on the over-spending which caused the sickness.

But this is precisely what politicians won't face up to. Instead of correcting past mistakes by changing the course of government they attempt to cover up their mistakes by suggesting oppressive laws against the common people—robbing the very constituents they took an oath to serve and protect.

It is a broad demonstration of the oldest truth in politics: That long continuance in power breeds a grinding thirst for still more power—with its attendant corruption and neglect of the people.

The suspicions I held against the national Democratic party which caused me to abandon it after the second Roosevelt administration and declare this newspaper to be a political "independent" have long since been verified. But the latest and most flagrant verification appears this week in announcements by national Democrats that, having made the country sick by spending more money than taxes bring in, they now propose to shift the blame onto the people by advocating wage and price controls. Here is the list of political rascals:

Sen. Fred R. Harris, Oklahoma Democrat, has introduced a bill to create a federal board with power to freeze wages and prices. Rep. Carl Albert, Oklahoma Democrat, and Sen. Mike Mansfield, Montana Democrat, jointly urge "economic action" by the Democratic Congress.

Union economists urge "selective credit controls" or an immediate freeze on profits, wages, salaries, and prices.

Having themselves sought to burn down the house called America these rascals now have the gall to form a posse to search out and hang an innocent people. They are not to be believed. And no law that comes off the desks of these conspirators deserves or will get obedience from the people.

Wage-and-price controls may be justified under a declaration of war—but any politician asking such a cover for his own sins in time of peace ought to be put in jail.

It is difficult enough to enforce economic controls under the urgency of war—but in peacetime it is impossible.

It's an invitation to reopen the war-time Black Market—and every honest American knows this.

School Charge Is Dismissed

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—A suit alleging that the Childster School Board discriminated in the dismissals of four Negro teachers has been dismissed by U.S. District Judge Oren Harris.

Harris said the evidence did not show there was discrimination when the four teachers were not rehired for the 1969-70 school year. That year, Pleasant Hill School, an all-Negro school, was unitized with Childster High School.

Arkansas Dies in Okla. Wreck

STILLWELL, Okla. (AP)—Charles G. Plumlee, 35, of Springdale, Ark., was killed Wednesday night in a two-truck collision on U.S. 59 in the Stillwell city limits.

The Highway Patrol said a truck-tractor jackknifed across the highway as Plumlee's truck approached, and the rear of the jackknifed trailer struck the cab of Plumlee's truck. He was dead on arrival at a Stillwell hospital.

WR Sounding More Like a Candidate

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, sounding like a candidate, said Wednesday he had "stronger leanings toward the possibility" of seeking a third term.

Rockefeller told a news conference that he was not deliberately stalling on announcing his political plans. The filing deadline is June 16.

The governor said his recent tour of France with three other governors gave him an opportunity to "get out of the forest so I could see the trees" and objectively evaluate the political situation in Arkansas.

The governor had said he would consider seeking the office again if his candidacy would be in the best interest of the state and the Republican party.

Rockefeller said Wednesday that his decision to run again would not be based on public opinion polls "because the polls have been against me before."

John Ward, head of the governor's public relations firm, said a new poll conducted for the governor was completed three days ago, but Ward refused to say what the poll showed. Ward also said a statement by State Rep. Sterling R. Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock that Rockefeller did not have 51 percent of the vote was not based on a Rockefeller poll.

Rockefeller said that contrary to a statement by Charles Bernard of Earle, Republican vice chairman, the governor's delay in announcing his plans will not hurt the GOP.

State Rep. George E. Nowotny Jr. of Fort Smith, an announced candidate for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, said Tuesday night that Rockefeller's indecision had put him in a dilemma. When informed of Nowotny's remark, Rockefeller said, "Maybe he put me in a dilemma."

The governor said Nowotny's entrance into the race raised the "possibility of forcing my decision at a time I was not ready," although Rockefeller said this was not "necessarily the motivation" of Nowotny's early announcement.

Rockefeller said there were five or six persons in the Republican party who would make "excellent" candidates for governor, but he declined to name them.

Awarded Money for Seized Land

HELENA, Ark. (AP)—Mrs. Myrtis Polk of near Helena was awarded $13,500 Thursday by a Phillips Circuit Court jury for about 13 acres condemned by the state Highway Commission.

The Highway Department estimated the value of the land at $4,000. Mrs. Polk had asked for $25,000. The land, located south of West Helena, is being used for a bypass.

Here's Some of the Very Latest News in Art of Doubletalk

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Heard any good new double talk lately?

Double talk, you remember, is saying one thing while thinking another. It is a device for saving your public face while remaining privately honest with yourself.

For the benefit of the uninitiated, here are some typical examples of modern day double talk:

"Frankly, I like the dress, but somehow it doesn't bring out the real me."—I saw the price tag.

"I really enjoy living alone, Melvin, but now and then I get swept by a feeling of unutterable loneliness. Don't you sometimes feel that way, too?"—What did I do wrong as a little girl so that now, at 28, I have to try to get a jerk like Melvin to propose to me?

"Naturally, every man has a right to express his own opinion."—So why don't you write yours on a piece of paper, put it in a bottle, and float it out to sea?

President Appeals to Businessmen to Help Fight Inflation

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon, in an unusual direct appeal has asked the nation's businessmen to help the government's war on inflation by keeping their prices in check.

In 2½ hours of private give-and-take with 45 business and financial leaders Wednesday night, the President also tried—with apparent success—to calm their doubts about his decision to move troops into Cambodia.

The executives, according to several who were there, told Nixon the Cambodia decision was a major factor in the stock market's plunge. He responded that, whether the nation realizes it or not, the military move will hasten the day of withdrawal from Vietnam.

"We were very encouraged," one businessman said afterward. "It was a good meeting." Another said, "A third said the group's reaction was 'very positive regarding his general programs.'"

Those who consented to review the meeting insisted that their names not be used. Most of Nixon's guests refused to comment, and the White House furnished no information.

The guest list was heavily weighted with heads of financial institutions, indicating Nixon's primary concern was to reassure the jittery market. But he also discussed domestic economics and his problems with young people, and Chairman Arthur F. Burns discussed the Federal Reserve Board's policies.

Nixon told the group he had wartime experience with wage and price controls and found them unfair to some at the expense of others. He remains opposed to mandatory controls, but indicated a willingness for business and labor to curb their price and wage demands voluntarily.

In the words of one businessman, he "expressed a commendable aversion to a controlled economy—wage and price controls, that is. He sort of called upon business and labor to cooperate with government in voluntary wage and price controls. At least that's the way I interpreted it."

House Rejects Charge Supersonic Transport Just Luxury Plane

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rejecting charges the supersonic transport will be a jet set luxury so-so-fy it won't be allowed at U.S. airports, the House has approved SST development money by the narrowest margin yet.

An effort to force a roll call vote on cutting all $290 million SST money out of a $7-billion Department of Transportation money bill was defeated Wednesday 176 to 163.

An earlier nonrecord vote to kill the money was defeated 102 to 86 but critics tried to force the roll call in hopes the House would cut the money if members had to be recorded on the issue by name.

After the roll call move failed the $7 billion bill was passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate where Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has already launched a drive to try to cut the SST money.

Backers of the 1700 mile-an-hour airliner said the noise problem is being solved and cancellation of the program would cripple America's aviation prestige as well as its aerospace industry and jobs.

"The fact is we are going to control the noise on the ground," said Rep. Edward P. Boland, D-Mass., chairman of the House transportation appropriations subcommittee.

The SST's noise on takeoff—which has been described as equalling the roar of 50 jetfighters lifting off simultaneously—can be solved, Boland said, as future airports are located further from cities.

He said the SST's noise 3½ miles after takeoff is expected to be less than that of airliners already flying.

But Rep. Mark Andrews, R-N.D., called the SST a "$300 million boondoggle for the jet set" and Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., who proposed cutting the funds, called the plane a "colossal waste of money."

"Even if it flies successfully—and there is still serious question that it will," Yates said, "it will not be allowed to fly into or out of any airport in the United States because of the infernal racket it makes."

His argument was that anticipated SST ground noise far exceeds present federal limits for subsonic planes and those limits should not be changed for the new plane.

Dilapidated Housing Test Suit Planned

The City Attorney's office announced today that a test suit was being prepared for filing against the owners and occupants of certain dilapidated houses in Hope.

The purpose of the suit will be to determine how far the municipality may go in removing unsanitary and unsightly structures some of which are occupied by tenants, and some of which are vacant.

James H. Pilkinton, Counsel for the city, said that the authorities did not want to work a hardship on any property owner or tenant who desired to improve their property. He further stated that it was the purpose of the city to proceed in a fashion that was legal and that the "test suit" approach would be adopted to protect the rights of all interested parties, and afford them their day in court before the mittee has recently surveyed areas of town, and has furnished authorities with a list of structures which are considered unsanitary, unsightly or dangerous. The Advisory Committee has recommended immediate action concerning these houses.

Consumer Suit Faces a Big Test

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A powerful legal weapon designed to keep merchants honest—the class action suit—faces an uncertain fate in its first congressional test next week because of Nixon administration opposition.

The administration and business groups are attempting to scuttle the bill in favor of a counter proposal which class action backers call a "consumer fraud" in itself.

The class action bill comes before the House Interstate Commerce subcommittee Tuesday. One of its sponsors says the outcome depends on the swing vote of one Democrat.

The bill would permit an individual to file suit on behalf of thousands of consumers. Presently, an individual seldom goes to court to recover, say, $50 because the court costs would exceed the recovery.

Market Makes Largest One Day Gain

By DAVID BURKE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, following a record gain Wednesday, opened sharply higher on the Dow Jones average today in heavy trading.

The Dow average of 30 industrial stocks at 10:30 a.m. was up 13.07 at 676.27.

Advancing stocks held a commanding lead of about 5 to 1 over declining issues among stocks being traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Some analysts said the continuation of Wednesday's upturn may be due in part to President Nixon's encouraging words to business leaders at a dinner meeting in Washington Wednesday night.

The stock market closed sharply higher Wednesday as the Dow average posted its largest single-day gain in history.

The widely followed average of 30 industrial stocks jumped 32.04 to close at 663.20, a 5.07 per cent increase. At its highest point as recorded by intra-hour readings, the average was up over 37.

Big board volume of 17.44 million shares was the second heaviest turnover this year.

The previous record for a single day's gain in the average was 32.03, registered Nov. 26, 1963, the Tuesday after the funeral of President John F. Kennedy.

Despite its size, however, the gain brought the index to a point only slightly above where it stood at the start of the week. The index had fallen a total of 31.01 points Monday and Tuesday.

Stocks on the American Exchange and the over-the-counter market also recorded large gains. Bond prices rose for the first time in about eight weeks, although not as impressively as the stocks.

One analyst said major upward moves after deep market slumps usually begin with this kind of buying surge. "Wednesday's rise is a very good sign," he said.

Other analysts, however, said the basic fundamentals that sent the Dow average plunging 71 points in the previous six sessions remain unchanged. They said the upswing was due primarily to internal forces caused by the deeply oversold market condition.

Enemy Enters Capital of Cambodia, Leaves After Fierce Fighting

Says Divided Cabinet Talk 'Malarky'

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Winton M. Blount says talk about a divided cabinet is "a lot of malarky" by a news media blasted against the administration. He says that while individual members may hold different opinions the cabinet is not sharply divided in the way the media have pictured it.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon has made an unusual direct appeal to the nation's businessmen to help the government's war on inflation by keeping prices in check. In a 2½ hour meeting with 45 business and financial leaders, the President also tried to calm doubts about his decision to move troops into Cambodia. Executives who would comment said reaction to Nixon's presentation was very positive.

Blount said in an interview the news media has inaccurately pictured the cabinet as sharply divided over Cambodia and placed an "extreme overemphasis" on speeches by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew while underplaying demonstrations of support for the President's war policies.

He also contended the Nixon administration has not only listened to young people, but has done a great deal for them in the way of draft reform and efforts to seek limitations of nuclear weapons.

Blount, a staunch supporter of Nixon's Cambodian policy, said the administration has an obligation to explain its decisions about Indochina to young people, whose "depth of feeling is extremely impressive." But he added:

"If the decision goes against you, you can't say, 'they didn't listen to me because they didn't do what I wanted.'"

Turning to news coverage, Blount said "the role of the media is to dig for information for its readers. Generally, I think it does a fine job."

But when the media covers the administration, he said, "it seems to tip the balance wheel a little. It begins to let its bias show."

One example, Blount said, is "the extreme overemphasis of the media on the vice president's speeches. . . . It doesn't seem to want to take things in context."

"The vice president's main criticism of the media is of lack of balance," he said. "But the media rants and raves when the vice president makes a speech."

"I must say I've heard much worse things in the media about the vice president than he has said about the media," Blount said.

Another indication of bias in the news media, he said, was the relative coverage of the antiwar rally in Washington and the peaceful march by New York construction workers in support of the President's policy.

Carthage Now Can Hold Summer Classes

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Summer makeup classes apparently will be offered at Carthage after all.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller Wednesday set aside $12,000 of his emergency fund to finance the summer classes for Negro students at Carthage who boycotted classes during part of the current school year.

About 155 black students participated in the boycott to protest alleged discrimination. The students returned to classes in February after the Carthage School Board agreed to offer summer classes so the students could obtain credit and be promoted.

The board, however, had been unable to come up with the funds to finance the summer classes.

Rockefeller allocated the money from his emergency fund on the recommendation of state Education Commissioner A. W. Ford.

Weekly U.S. Toll Placed at 142 Dead

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP)—North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops fought their way into the Cambodian provincial capital of Prey Veng early today, but they were reported withdrawing later in the day after street fighting.

On other Cambodian fronts, North Vietnamese troops captured a district headquarters on the highway between Phnom Penh and Angkor Wat, the country's chief tourist attraction, and ambushed an American artillery convoy near Mimot.

The North Vietnamese also stepped up their attacks in South Vietnam's northern provinces, but military spokesmen said at least 93 of the enemy were killed in that sector.

The U.S. Command reported that the total of American combat deaths in the war dropped last week to their lowest weekly toll since American forces crossed into Cambodia on May 1. The weekly casualty summary said 142 Americans were killed and 808 wounded, including 61 dead and 249 wounded in Cambodia.

A Cambodian military spokesman said North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces which had virtually surrounded Prey Veng for more than two weeks opened an attack at 1 a.m. today, and forward elements of the enemy force punched into the city 30 miles east of Phnom Penh.

Street fighting was reported still going on after dawn, but the spokesman said later word indicated the attack force was withdrawing.

Prey Veng is one of the Cambodian army's last major positions east of the Mekong River except for areas where South Vietnamese and American troops are operating.

In another assault today, the Cambodian spokesman said Communist troops captured Tang Krasang, a district capital 65 miles north of Phnom Penh on the highway to Angkor.

The total number of Americans killed in battle last week was 35 per cent less than the previous week's 217. A spokesman attributed the drop to consolidation of American areas of operation in Cambodia. A communique said U.S. casualties in all Cambodian operations now total 225 killed and 838 wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 734 of its troops were killed in action last week, 25 per cent more than the week before, and 2,080 were wounded.

The U.S. Command said allied forces killed 3,321 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong last week, 403 less than the week before.

Construction Threat to All-Star Game

CINCINNATI (AP) — Only a possibility of a construction workers strike now threatens to keep the 1970 All-Star game from being held in Cincinnati.
City Manager Richard Kra-bach disclosed Wednesday that the Cincinnati Reds can start using the new Cincinnati Riverfront Stadium June 30 and the All-Star game can be played there July 14 unless the walkout occurs.

Representatives of a majority of building trades unions have ironed out tentative agreements for the contracts of about 12,500 workers which expire June 1 at midnight. The proposals have to be ratified however, and negotiations were continuing with other unions.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn had given the city until day 30 to provide him with a definite answer on whether the stadium would be ready for the All-Star game. But Reds president Francis Dale said, "We must assure the commissioner positively by Monday (June 1) that the stadium will be available for the All-Star game."

If assurance cannot be given then, Atlanta will be awarded the classic.

Travelers Come Up With a Victory

MEMPHIS (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers turned 11 hits and six Memphis errors into a 6-5 Texas League victory over the Blues Wednesday night.

Arkansas got two runs in the third inning when Memphis second baseman Terry DeWald's double play throw went into left field. The Trays added another run on an error in the fifth. Chip Coulter opened the inning with a double and Eddie Crosby followed with a grounder to first which Ted Bashore booted and then threw wild to the plate in an attempt to get Coulter.

The Trays scored three more in the seventh of a Memphis error and three singles by Crosby, Jose Cruz and Bill Stein.

The victory moved the Travelers to within two games of the Blues, Eastern Division leaders. The Blues led 3-2 in the third inning before their defense collapsed.
